Gray's Patent Molded Collars.

Are universally pronounced the neatest and best fitting collars extant. The upper edge presents a perfect curve, free from the angles noticed in all other collars. The cravat causes no puckers on the inside of the turn-down collar; they are as SMOOTH INSIDE AS OUTSIDE, and therefore perfectly free and easy to the neck.

The Garotte Collar has a smooth and evenly finished edge on both sides.

These Collars are not simply flat pieces of paper cut in the ferm of a collar, but are MOLDED AND SHAPED TO FIT THE NECK.

They are made in "Novelty," (or turn-down style;) in every half size from 12 to 17 inches, and in "Eureka," (or Garotte,) from 13 to 17 inches; and packed in "solid sizes" in neat blue cartons, cen aining 100 each; also in smaller ones of ten each-the latter a very handy package for travelers army and navy officers. EVERY COLLAR is stamped

"GRAY'S PATENT MOLDED COLLAR." Bold by all dealers in men's furnishing goods,

BEAU SICKMAN,

The best Local Sensation Drama ever produced in Washington. Gotten up an expense of over $2,000, with NEW AND ELEGANT LOCAL SCENERY,

FAMILIAR SCENES IN WASHINGTON,

LIFE-LIKE REPRESENTATIONS. All of which have been minutely copied by the artist from careful observation, and are therefore accurate copies of Washington city and its surroundings, and cannot fail to strike the beholder as being exact counterparts of the original.

The Costumes have been made similar to those worn by the parties to be represented, and in some cases have been, through strategy, procured from the persons themselves, thereby showing a determination to render the characters easily recognized that the polytest in the polytest in the persons themselves, the polytest in nized by all, thus making the plot still more effective.

The Machinery and Appointments are also complete in the minutest detail, and everything has been done which ingenuity and enterprise could devise, to make this play what it purports to be, a faithful representation of Life in the Capital.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC. Wilson's Great Raid-Twenty Miles of Railroad Destroyed-A Train of Cars Captured-Gens. Grant, Meade, Burnside, and Butler at Headquarters.

[Dispatch to the Chronicle.] NEAR PETERSBURG, June 28, 11 p. m.—The large body of Rebel cavalry that moved around our left is now at Ream's Station, on the Petersburg and Weldon Raifroad. Gen. Wilson's 3d division of cavalry passed this place a few days ago, en route for the Danville and Richmond Railroad. The rebels were too slow. Wilson reached the road, destroying many miles of track before he retraced his steps, meeting no opposition until he neared the point from which he started. All the track was composed of strap iron, placed upon wooden supports. The one destroyed the other. As the track was torn up it was placed upon the wooden sleepers and burnt until it was bent and useless.

and useless. A locomotive and train of cars were surprised at one station, and before the engine could move off all were in the hands of our men. The cars were crowded with refugees from Petersburg. They were sadly dismayed to find themselves so unexpectedly in the hands of those they shunned so earnestly. All the cars, with the locomotive, were destroyed.

Having accomplished his work in the most successful manner, Gen. Wilson returned. Over twenty miles of valuable road was rendered completely useless, in a less number of hours. When his advance guard neared Ream's Station, the enemy was discovered in force. They had been patiently awaiting his return at this place. All the cavalry they could muster was spread out between our gallant raiders and their infantry supports. All night they fought, and during the morning of this day. Wilson could not push through them, and con-sequently must fight until reinforced. An officer succeeded in reaching Gen. Meade's headquarters, with intelligence of their awkward position. The 6th corps being on the extreme left, and nearest the scene of strife, was instantly dispatched there to divert the enemy's attention. A division of the 2d corps soon followed, supported by Col. Collis' Headquarters Provisional Brigade. It was thought the rebels in our immediate front would have opened on us savagely, but all were disappointed, their troops having been moving all the afternoon in the direction of our left and rear. On Burnside's line the rebels begin to use their mortars, nightly throwing shell with more accuracy than is their usual habit. Generals Grant, Meade and Butler met at

General Burnside's headquarters to-day. This meeting was unofficial, being of a purely accidental nature. I have known shells to explode very near these quarters, but to-day all was quiet here. Sheridan's command were to be allowed the privilege of rest, to recover and refresh their iaded horses. All are now on this side of the James, and will haste to meet the fee they have driven before them so many times during this cam-

FROM SHERMAN'S COMMAND. Details of Late Movements-Death of Gen erai Harker.

New York, July 1.—A special despatch to the herald, dated Nashville to-day, has the following: On the 22d, General Hood's corps, in General McPherson's front, was withdrawn. The movement seems to have been commenced on the 21st. Schofield, on our right moved forward after the capture of Pine Mountain and crossed Nickajack creek, followed by Hooker. There Sherman found him at a right angle to the rebel line, on the Kenesaw Mountain.

Johnston was compelled by this movement to change his direction, it being north and south, and still covering Martetta. Sherman, however, kept moving his right southward, thus compelling the rebels to abandon Kenesaw, and lengthen their line southward. The object of the maneuvering on our part was to compel Johnston to occupy ground whose natural advantages for a defensive battle would not be so great as at Kenesaw. Our efforts were so far successful, but the enemy still hold the high ground about the headwater of numerous streams rising near Marietta.

Your correspondent with Hocker on the 27th reports that the rebels' assault on the left of Schofield and right of Hooker was repulsed with severe slaughter, losing three hundred killed. Col. Bartholson, of the 100th Illinois, and Major Duffy, of the 35th Indiana, were

Ewell is reported to have relieved Johnston, who goes to take command of Richmond. The truth of this report is not known, but Ewell is believed to be at Marietta. The indications are that a battle will be fought near where the armies are massed, as Johnston is so sorely pressed that he cannot get away beyond the river safely. We have nothing later by mail. A gentleman who left the front on the 27th reports heavy firing on Saturday, Sunday and Monday. He knows nothing of the details of the battles, but reports that large numbers of wounded were sent to the rear. General Harker died of his wounds on Tues-

Negro Testimony in Maryland,

BALTIMORE, July 1 .- Before the military commission sitting here in the case of the United States against John R. Mankin, charged with blockade-running and trading with the South illegally, the commissioners decided to receive negro testimony for the first time in Maryland history against a white man. Judge Advocate Captain Smith mase a strong argument, citing numerous authorities sustaining his points.

The defence also argued elaborately, but were overruled. Colonel Munson pronounced the commissioners' decision, he being president. Therefore, as negroes are now competent witnesses against white men in the courts throughout Maryland, much greater prudence must be observed in their presence.

Rumored Resignation of Collector Barney of New York. NEW YORK, July 1.—The Express says it is rumored that Cellector Barney has resigned.

The joint resolution was passed.

On motion of Mr. Schenck, the bill further to regulate and provide for the enrolling and calling out the national forces, as returned from the Senate with a substitute in the character of an amendment, was taken up.

Mr. Schenck said the choice was now between giance to the United States.

Mr. Thomas, of Md., offered an amendment to the Senate substitute, providing it shall not be lawful for any State to send recruiting agents into other States and Territories to enlist soldiers; and no State shall be credited with soldiers who are not citizens of States claiming the credit, or foreigners who do not owe alle-

The above amendment was rejected-yeas 63, Mr. Garfield offered an amendment to the Senate substitute, authorizing recruiting and voluntary enlistments from the rebel States.

This was agreed to—yeas 58, nays 53.

Mr. Davis, of Md., offered and explained an amendment to the Senate substitute, providing, among other things, that no person drafted be-tween eighteen and twenty five years shall be entitled to be exempted from s-rvice en pay-ment of commutation money; that all enrolled persons shall be divided into two classes-one of those between eighteen and twenty, and the other overtwenty-five and under forty-five. Every year, during continuance of the rebel-lice, the President is authorized to cause to be drafted two hundred and fifty thousand of the first class, to be either sent into the field, or held as a reserve to meet the exigencies of the service. In the event of a levy of more than that number, the residue beyond it shall be drafted into the second class. Prior thereto, the President shall call for volunteers to fill the same, who shall receive a bounty of $300 for three years, or a proportionate amount for shorter periods of service, etc.
The above substitute was rejected—year 26, nays 29.

NAVY DEPARTMENT. Bureau of Equipment and Recruiting, July 7, 1864. Sealed Proposals to furnish materials for the Navy, for the year ending 3:th June, 1865, will be received at the Bureau of Equipment and Recruiting, until the first day of August next, at 10 o'clock a. m., when the bids will be opened, without regard to any accidental detention of mails or other causes.

The materials and articles embraced in the classes named are particularly described in the printed schedules, any of which will be furnished to such as desire to offer, on application to the commandants of the respective yards, or to the navy agent nearest thereto, and those of all the yards, upon application to the Bureau. This division into classes being for the convenience of dealers in each, such portions only will be furnished as are actually required for bids. The commandant and navy agent at each station will, in addition to the schedule of classes at their own yards, have a copy of the schedules of the other yards for examination only, from which it may be judged whether it will be desirable to make application for any of the classes of those yards.

be desirable to make application for any of the classes of those yards.

Offers must be made for the whole of the class at any yard upon one of the printed schedules, or in strict conformity therewith, or they will not be considered. In computing the classes, the price stated in the column of prices will be the standard, and the aggregate of the class will be carried out according to the prices stated.

It is requested of bidders to avoid erasures and substitution of figures, and to see that the amounts are correctly carried out.

The contracts will be awarded to the lowest bonz fide bidder who gives proper security for its fulfilment. The bureau reserves the right to reject all the bids for any class, if deemed exorbitant.
